Casting Call

Auditions for the 2019 production of Villains and Vittles Dinner Theatre at R.J. Haney Heritage Village & Museum will be on Wednesday, May 8 at 4:00 pm in Marjorie's Tea Room at the Village

R.J. Haney Heritage Village and Museum, in beautiful Salmon Arm, BC is looking to hire four actors for this season's production of Villains and Vittles Dinner Theater and four interpreters to lead guided tours of the Heritage Village. If you are looking for a memorable and gainful work experiences join us at the auditions on Wednesday, May 8 at 4:00 pm in Marjorie's Tea Room at the Village.

The play is written and directed by local playwright Peter Blacklock and depicts the history of Salmon Arm. Bring your resumes with a headshot and references with you to the audition and come prepared to show us your talents in acting, singing, dancing or playing a musical instrument. If you are unable to attend the audition, an alternate interview can be arranged.

The Village, Museum and Marjorie's Tea Room offers a unique cultural heritage experience for the travelling and local public. The Heritage Interpreters and Actors works with the General Manager and Visitor Services Department supporting the day to day operation of the Heritage Village and Museum, greeting visitors, leading interpretive tours of the site sharing its fascinating history. Applicants should have an interest in history and historical events and be willing to learn about our local history. Successful candidates assist in the educational programs, promotion of site interpretation and the Village's activities and depict the local history as an actor in the live performances of our dinner theatre production three nights per week during July and August.
